About the Library

www.unf.edu/library

The Thomas G. Carpenter Library at the University of North Florida houses a multitude of resources including books, videos, journals, magazines, newspapers, rare books and manuscripts.

In addition to the physical collections, the library subscribes to more than 300 research databases offering a rich collection of articles, journals, streaming video, case studies, scientific data and electronic books. Nearly all of the library's online collections can be accessed off campus via the library's website.

The Library Commons, located on the first and second floors, fosters student learning and engagement through a suite of services, technologies and study spaces.

Thomas G. Carpenter Library

Welcome from the Dean

Welcome to Tommy G's – your library at UNF! A top-notch set of faculty librarians and staff await you at the Carpenter Library. We have gathered/curated a first-rate set of resources to support your research and teaching needs and look forward to working with you to further your professional success as well as that of your students.

Swoop in and introduce yourself to your department's personal librarian liaisons. Every department has at least one library faculty liaison. These experts are there to help you with your individual research needs, and you in turn are there to help us identify resources that will strengthen UNF's collections to support future research.

-Dr. Brent Mai, Dean

Library Liaison Program

The goals of the Library Liaison Program are to enhance communication between the library and academic units, to develop a systematic and sustainable method for developing library collections and to clearly identify library resources needed to support the University's academic programs and research.

All academic departments are assigned library faculty liaisons to support their research and teaching needs.

Library Instruction

Faculty are encouraged to schedule library instruction sessions tailored to students' research needs. Instruction sessions are designed to cover specific tools and can be conducted in the library's classrooms, in regular classrooms or online.

Library faculty can also develop subject guides for individual courses or projects as requested. One-on-one instruction and research consultations are available by appointment.

Canvas Integration of Library Materials

Electronic library resources can be embedded into Canvas courses, including links to articles, e-books, databases, as well as video and audio selections.

UNF Digital Commons

is an institutional repository that provides a persistent digital presence for the scholarly and creative output of UNF faculty and students. It also includes material from the University Archives and Special Collections as well as campus departments and initiatives.

SelectedWorks

allows UNF faculty to partner with the library to build a scholarly online presence that is reputable, sustainable and complete. Scholarship in SelectedWorks ranks high in search engine results, maximizing the readership and impact of research. The interactive author dashboard provides metrics for tenure review and promotion.

Citation Analysis Tools

are available to help faculty develop their promotion and tenure packets. In addition to Web of Science and Google Scholar, cited reference searching is possible in many research databases. Journal Citation Reports can be used to evaluate research journals and their impact in a field.
